Jennifer Duneier Easter

Every home needs a room that aids rejuvenation. Jennifer Duneier's Easter-inspired sitting area with an en suite bath is just that. "Here the woman of the house can escape the hustle and bustle of a busy day," Duneier says. Childhood memories of dyeing Easter eggs prompted her palette: Turquoise velvet damask covers a fanciful chair, and a geometric Osborne & Little wallpaper patterns the walls. The pink tones of the flower photograph reference the symbols of spring in an elegant, sophisticated way.

Felicia Zwebner Thanksgiving

Felicia Zwebner believed her room's limestone fireplace, walnut-paneled walls, and painted, barrel-vaulted ceiling was ideal for Thanksgiving. "I wanted guests to experience the comfort and warmth that comes with that holiday," she says. To make the baronial room inviting, Zwebner divided the space into three areas for conversation: a sitting area flanked by two round dining tables. Pheasants and feathers replace a typical Thanksgiving decor of turkeys and pumpkins. Jewel-toned fabrics and table accessories underscore the autumnal feel. ▶
